COUNCIL ORDERS WOODS VALVES

R. D. Woods Company Gets Contract to Furnish the Supplies for New Water Works

SCHUBERT IS CRITICISED

Third Street Sewer Is Deferred for One Year; Oil Company Ordinance
Passes

After much discussion, during which James Day, president of the board of public works refused to submit a recommendation, the city council adopted a resolution, instructing the board to enter into a contract with the R. D. Woods company for the purchase of hydrants and valves to be used in connection with the new water system, at a contract price of $2,827.50, at last night's meeting.

Of the several bids entered, the Woods company bid was the lowest. Members of the council called upon Mr. Day for his recommendation, whereupon he declared that if he were purchasing the valves and hydrants for his own use he would buy the make that would give the longest service. When called upon for his recommendation, he declared that he did not care to make one. City Engineer George Bradish, however, recommended the purchase of the Wood valve and hydrant.

The council meeting was adjourned for the purpose of calling a meeting of the whole, which submitted a report favoring the Woods valve and hydrant. This and a similar resolution were adopted by a large majority.

Defer Bridge Work.
The motion for the letting of a contract for the repair of the causeway bridge with creosote block was amended by Alderman William Tarbox to provide for a replanking instead of the creosote block owing to a dispute as to the ownership of certain land adjacent to the bridge. This amendment was carried.

Alderman B. C. Smith, when speaking on the controversy between the city and the Wisconsin Pearl Button company, declared that the council does not know whether the city owns the land or whether the Wisconsin Pearl Button company is the owner and that "the city attorney doesn't know where he is at in regard to the matter."

Alderman William Torrance also criticised the action of the city attorney declaring that he had been instructed to start a test case four weeks ago but nothing has been heard of it since.

Sewer Postponed.
The motion of Alderman Tarbox to the effect that the laying of the Third street sewer be deferred for one year was carried. A previous resolution providing for the letting of contracts for the sewer, was carried at a former meeting but owing to the fact that the bids received for the work exceeded the contract, the matter was referred to the city council by the board of public works.

The third reading of the ordinance granting permission to the Interstate Oil company to operate within the city limits took place and was adopted. A resolution providing for the removal of toll on the wagon bridge during fair week, September 23 to 28 was carried.

WRECK KILLS THREE

PONTIAC, Mich., Aug. 31.—Three laborers Sam Finasi, Tony Bartlow and an unidentified man were killed and several others badly hurt when an interurban work car loaded with steel rails struck a split switch near Birmingham and toppled into the ditch, burying a dozen men beneath the rails and debris. Frank Mapes, motorman of the work car, is believed to have gone insane after the accident. He was last seen running wildly from the wreck and up to noon today had not returned home.

HARVESTERS ROBBED TWICE

FARGO, N. D., Aug. 31.—J. S. Lange and E. S. Kim left today for peaceful Chicago, where they will try and sooth their frayed nerves after a strenuous experience in North Dakota. They arrived here Sunday seeking work in the harvest fields and while asleep in a cheap hotel were robbed of $30. Two masked men awakened them, asleep in a box car the next night and took their last cent. Yesterday they wired home—collect—for money.

WOULD MOVE CAPITAL

TIENTSIN, Aug. 31.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen's renewal of his campaign for removal of China's capital further south was interpreted here today as the radical republicans' initial step toward limiting President Yuan Shi Kai's power.

DEMOCRATS IN RALLY

CANOBIE LAKE, N. H., Aug. 31.—Speaker Champ Clark, Governor Foss of Massachusetts, Louis D. Brandeis of Boston and Senator-elect Ollie James of Kentucky today addressed a large crowd of 5,000 in the greatest democratic rally ever held in this section.

Chilean Belles With Big Dowries Married

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—With a dowry of $100,000 each, two Chilean belles were married in Brooklyn this afternoon. One chose a fellow countryman as her husband, but the other selected a ten dollar a week clerk of a big life insurance company to make her happy. The couples are Senorita Stella Chinchilla of Valparaiso, bride of Clarence Burr Byxbee, living in South Norwalk, Conn., who gave up keeping insurance accounts to take a wife, and her sister, Irene Chinchilla, who was married to Carlos Damerslee.

The Chinchillas have been living in Brooklyn for three years, while members of the family were being educated. Byxbee first met his bride of today while they were attending lectures on new thought, and an acquainted ripened into love. Senor Chinchilla settled $100,000 on each of the brides just before the ceremony and after a wedding trip the entire family including the new husbands, will return to Valparaiso.

DEMOCRATS HOPE TO DISCREDIT T. R.

Will Attempt to Develop Heavy Financing of 1904 Campaign
by Trusts

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—That the democratic campaign managers hope to develop that Col. Roosevelt's campaign of 1904 was heavily financed by the trusts when the senatorial investigation is resumed in Washington, was admitted at headquarters here today. They hope to make the opening wedge by having a contribution of $10,000 made by the steel trust inquired into. The record of this contribution is contained in the democratic campaign text-book, just issued, the contribution being acknowledged by C. H. Duell, assistant treasurer of the republican national committee, and E. T. Stotesbury, chairman of the finance committee. Stotesbury was also a member of Morgan & Co.

George B. Cortelyou, however, in testifying recently, denied that he as chairman of the republican national committee had received any money for the 1904 campaign from the trusts.

THREE SMUGGLERS KILLED

LISBON, Aug. 31.—Three smugglers were killed resisting arrest near here today. On their way to jail with eleven others they had captured, the troops were attacked by rescuers of whom they killed two and wounded many.

SAYS U. S. FEARS AE SECOND CANAL

PARIS, Aug. 31.—Because America ears a second canal in opposition to the big isthmus of Panama, Le Temps declares today the Washington administration is trying to gain control in Nicaragua.

The newspaper adds that a story of the massacre of 7,500 troops was told to justify intervention. Inasmuch as there are only 5,500 rebel and government soldiers in the field, if 500 have been killed it is surprising.

CHILD EXPRESS PACKAGE

SHELTON, Conn., Aug. 31.—Tagged like any package of merchandise and paid for by the pound, Harold Hennessey, 8 years old, arrived by express from Los Angeles, Cal., having made the long journey as a part of an express company's cargo. Harold's parents moved to California and the child became ill there. A doctor advised a trip back to his Connecticut home, and when Hennessey was in doubt how to get his son back to relatives here, an express agent solved the difficulty by accepting Harold as a package.

DARROW SEES PLOT

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 31.—"Of course I do not know whether Wood planted the dynamite that was found in Lawrence, but it is more likely that it was 'planted' than that any laborer intended to use such methods. The labor question would not be settled by the conviction of Wood. It cannot be settled by courts, jails or penitentiaries. Until it is settled, similar incidents are inevitable," declared Clarence Darrow here today.

HEAT AFFECTS MANY

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 31.—Every ambulance in Columbus was called to the Ohio State university athletic field this afternoon to care for between fifty and seventy-five persons suffering from heat prostrations. Thousands of people were massed on the field to witness the Children's pageant, one of the closing features of the Ohio-Columbus centennial. Many of the heat victims were women and children.

WATLEROWEN AND KRUMERY BOOSTED

Thompson, McConnell and Bossard Urge Support
of Two State Candidates

LETTER SENT TO THE VOTERS

La Crosse County Aided by Their Vote in Legislature; Both Are Progressives

The candidacies of Senator Walter C. Owen of Maiden Rock, for attorney general, and Senator Henry Krumery of Princeton for state treasurer received a substantial boost in La Crosse county yesterday through a letter which was sent to the voters of this county under the signatures of District Attorney James Thompson, Assemblyman John E. McConnell and State Senator Otto Bossard of La Crosse. The letter urges the voters of this district to vote for Owen and Krumery because of their undoubted qualifications for the office for which they are candidates and it gives a short sketch of their records as active workers in the progressive cause ever since its inauguration into Wisconsin politics.

Senators Owen and Krumery have been the friends of La Crosse county interests in every matter affecting this county that came up in the legislature and should receive the friendship and support of this county at the primaries in return, according to the statement. The candidates opposing Senators Krumery and Owen are spoken of and it is explained that the opposition to them is not through any spirit of hostility to them and is caused only by the fact that the long standing acquaintance with Owen and Krumery has proven to their superior claims to the republican support at the primaries.

The letter which was sent out yesterday is given as follows:

Letter to Voters

"La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 29, 1912.
"Dear Sir: The undersigned desire to commend to the favorable consideration of the republican voters of La Crosse county, the candidacies of two good, strong and able men, to be voted on in the primaries next Tuesday, namely:

"Senator Walter C. Owen of Maiden Rock for attorney general, and Senator Henry Krumery of Plymouth for state treasurer.

"Senator Owen is opposed in the primaries by Attorney Philip Lehner of Princeton; Senator Krumery's opponent is Henry Johnson of Oconto. We have no words of criticism or disparagement against either Mr. Lehner or Mr. Johnson. We are urging the candidacies of Mr. Owen and Mr. Krumery not because of any feeling of hostility toward their opponents, but because of the fact that from our close acquaintance with all these men, and our familiarity with their records, we are perhaps in a position to better judge and appreciate their superior claims to the republican support for republican support in the primaries.

"Both men, for ten years past, have fought consistently for the triumph of the progressive movement. Both men have made material personal sacrifice in every campaign that La Follette's principles might triumph. Both have served with distinction and honor during the past eight years in the Wisconsin legislature, receiving the merely nominal salary carried by such position. Both have been leaders in the state senate.

"Senator Owen was the recognized peer of able campaign speakers in the notable fight of two years ago.

Well Equipped for Offices

"Senator Krumery, as chairman of the republican state central committee, managed the successful campaigns of the republicans in 1910, and at less cost than any state campaign in our history.

"Both are highly fitted for the offices to which they aspire.

"Senator Owen is a scholarly, honorable and able man, possessing ability as a trial lawyer, equalled by few men in Wisconsin.

"Senator Krumery is a substantial and progressive business man and farmer of wide experience and broad grasp of public affairs.

"The members of the legislature from our county for the past ten years, feel keenly a debt of obligation to these two men. They have been our friends on every measure where our county was interested. The La Crosse normal school and county agricultural school have repeatedly been aided by their votes. We urge their support in the primaries, not in a spirit of dictation, but because their worth, their ability, their long years of devotion to the progressive cause, and their loyalty to La Crosse county interests, have raised an obligation in their favor, which La Crosse county republicans should be glad to repay at the coming primaries.

"Very respectfully, (Signed)

"JAS. THOMPSON,

"JOHN E. MCCONNELL,

"OTTO BOSSARD."

PLAN DELAY IN BECKER'S TRIAL

Defense to Ask Change of Venue and Postponement
and if Refused, Will Appeal

RAID A GAMBLING HOUSE

Attie Club, Alleged by Police to be Last One Open,
Is Broken Up by a Squad

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Although District Attorney Whitman positively insisted today that there would be no change of venue and that the trial of Lieut. Becker for the murder of Gambler Herman Rosenthal would surely begin within a fortnight, it seemed certain today that there would be a long delay in starting the trial.

When Becker is arraigned in court next week Whitman will demand a struck jury and an immediate trial. John F. McIntyre for Becker, however, will ask for either a delay or a change of venue. Justice Goff is expected to refuse the application of the defense and grant the motions of the district attorney. It was learned today, however, that McIntyre anticipates this action and will immediately appeal from Justice Goff's decision. This appeal will be in such form that it can be carried to the state court of appeals which will mean that it will be months before a decision can be reached.

Early today Inspector Dwyer gave the Tenderloin a little excitement by swooping down on the Attie club and raiding it. This is a "family poker club" with exclusive rooms, just off Broadway and for years has run unmolested. Dwyer contented himself with breaking up the poker tables and seizing the cards and chips. The police claim this was the last of the open gambling houses.

ISSUE G. O. P. BOOK

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The republican national committee issued the 1912 campaign text book. One hundred and fifty pages shorter than the document of four years ago, the new text book deals comprehensively with all questions likely to arise during the campaign. It leads off with President Taft's speech of acceptance and then contrasts the republican and democratic platforms, laying especial stress on the tariff plank. The democratic policy of "tariff for revenue only" is asserted, means the eventual death of all protection. Much space is given to the Taft administration and the president's struggle with the democratic house. Also the Taft administration's prosecutions of the trusts is dwelt on at length.

VOTE DOWN COMPROMISE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—By an overwhelming majority of 6,351 to 866, the employees of the Chicago Electric surface transportation lines voted to reject the compromise agreement offered by the roads, according to announcement of the joint committee today.

While it was expected that the men would turn down the proposition, it was not expected they would reject the offer by such a margin. The vote was announced by the joint committee following the receipt of a telegram from International President Mahon, saying he would arrive in Chicago Monday to resume negotiations with the street car companies.

EIGHT BISHOPS AT FUNERAL.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Aug. 31.—Plans for the funeral of the late Bishop C. C. Grafton, Fond du Lac diocese, Episcopal church, were completed today. Eight bishops will attend the services Tuesday morning, which will be the most elaborate ever seen in the state. Various civic and fraternal societies will attend.

A death mask of the deceased prelate was made today and the remains placed in a statutory casket in St. Paul's cathedral. Telegrams of sympathy and condolence from all parts of the country were being received at the rectory today.

SUSPEND COMMODITY RATES.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The interstate commerce commission today suspended from Sept. 2 to Dec. 31 proposed advances on commodity rates from Atlantic coast points to Pacific coast terminals. The action was taken in consequence of vigorous protests by shippers. The commodities involved include automobiles, furniture, glass, petroleum products, plumber's materials, stoves and all sorts of vehicles. The proposed increases vary from ten cents per 100 pounds to 75 cents.

CHICAGO IN HEAT WAVE

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—After a season of cool weather continuing for two weeks, Chicago sweltered in the grasp of a heat wave today. The mercury mounted to 91 degrees, within one degree of the season's record, made on July 5, and prostrations were numerous.

RACE TRACK, ELGIN, ILL., Aug. 31.

Ralph DePalma, in a Mercedes, this afternoon, won the Elgin national trophy covering the 254 miles, 1,050 feet, in 2:23:20. Ralph Mulford in a Knox was second in 2:26:09. DePalma's average was 68.4 miles an hour. Mulford's average was 67.3 miles an hour. Both averages were over the previous record of 66.45 miles an hour set by Zengel in a National last year.

When the Elgin National was finished Bergdoll was leading in the free for all event by five minutes.

Wishart withdrew his Mercedes on account of a broken oil pipe at the end of the 24th lap.

A new record was hung up for the fastest 3/4 miles, once around the course at the Elgin road races today. A new record for average miles an hour was also made. Erwin Bergdoll, in a Benz car, circled the course on his third time around in six minutes and 31 seconds. The best previous record was made by Ralph Mulford in 1911, when he made one lap in 7:13.

Ralph DePalma was only three seconds ahead of Mulford at the end of the fourteenth lap. These two were second and third respectively in the free-for-all, where Bergdoll was leader, and first and second respectively in the Elgin national trophy event.

Bergdoll's average speed for 14 laps was 72:6 miles an hour. The best average speed in the Elgin national was 69 miles an hour. The highest previous record was sixty-six miles an hour held by Len Zengel, in a National last year.

Expect Broken Records

With the dawn of a second perfect racing day for the Elgin road race meet, drivers were tuning up their cars today, confident that within a few hours all the standing track records would be shattered. In the free-for-all event such drivers as Tetzlaff, Hughes, Mulford, DePalma, Merz and Wishart promised to break the record for a lap of 3/4 miles and for the miles an hour. Hughes won the Aurora cup making 65.5 miles an hour and Merz beat this figure in the Illinois trophy by making an average of 66.11 miles an hour. Endicott in a Mason car won the trophy with an average of 60.5 miles an hour.

Today's events drew a monster crowd to the course. The grand stand filled early, spectators watching the drivers practicing with their racing monsters. The first bomb signalling the militiamen and police to clear the track were set off at 10:30 o'clock. Nearly perfect police arrangements made it possible to have everyone off the course in a few moments. Couriers on motor cycles were sent around the course and the bombs were set off notifying guardsmen and spectators along the track that the race was on.

Morton H. Luce, clerk of the course, was knocked down and was slightly hurt by a car on the track near the starting line just before the start of the race. He was cared for by physicians on duty at the course. Eddie Hearne, relief driver for Teddie Tetzlaff, started the race in the big Flat. It was announced Tetzlaff would take the race later.

It was estimated that 75,000 persons witnessed the races today. Hughes pulled his Mercedes out of the race on account of the loss of a connecting rod bearing in the 18th lap.

At the end of the 18th lap Bergdoll had covered half the distance in the free for all, 152 miles, 2,742 feet.

White Lights Devotee Dies In An Institute

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The gay white way today recorded another victim. Irvin W. Childs, 26 year old, multi-millionaire and gaudy figure in the land of incandescents and mirth, is dead in a neurological institute after a lingering illness.

For five years Childs, with a fortune left him by his father, inventor of a cleaning compound and metal roofing patents, has been active in emblazoning his name along Broadway's path. Several months ago his health, which had been waning, gave out entirely and he went to the mountains promising to "come back." He didn't, though, and today news of his death reached his old haunts. He leaves a wife 19 years old, from whom he has been separated several times. The last parting came 6 months ago after a reconciliation lasting two weeks. His wife said then that seven chorus girls were too many for a husband to know.

MORE IMPLICATED IN STRIKE PLOT

Pelletier Says He Will Involve More in Conspiracy
to Discredit Mill
Workers

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—Because a detailed account of the "discovery" of dynamite concealed in pursuance of "a plot to destroy" Lawrence by the strikers was printed in a local paper before the explosive was actually found, District Attorney Pelletier, investigating the dynamite conspiracy, believes he will be able to involve men not already named.

In addition to William M. Wood, son of the Portuguese immigrant who now dominates the textile industry, Pelletier intimated today there are other prominent figures involved in the resort to dynamite to break a strike and discredit the strikers. He will continue the grand jury probe next week and will call a prominent mill official and at least one newspaper man to find where they obtained knowledge they are known to have had of the presence of dynamite prior to its actual discovery.

Wood will not be formally arraigned on the conspiracy charge until the other mill man, whose identity is still withheld, jointly indicted, is able to be present. He is now recovering from injuries received in an automobile accident.

According to Wood and his allies, they will join with the district attorney in demanding an immediate trial of the charge.

CAR HITS AUTO; 1 DEAD; 2 HURT

WHEATON, ILL., Aug. 31.—One man was instantly killed, and two others, his brother, probably fatally injured when the automobile in which they were riding enroute to the Elgin races, was struck by a northbound Aurora, Elgin & Chicago "third rail" electric car, near here, shortly before noon, today. The dead: H. L. Landon, South Elgin, Ill. The injured: E. K. Landon, Syracuse, N. Y., fractured skull; C. B. Landon, Elgin, internal injuries.

WILSON MAY EXTEND TOUR

SEA GIRT, N. J., Aug. 31.—Acting Chairman McAdoo of the democratic national committee, called on Governor Wilson at 7:30 o'clock this morning, but found the nominee already "on the job." McAdoo discussed speaking dates for the candidacy of Governor Wilson. One of them was Indianapolis, where Governor Wilson has been invited to attend the national conservation congress October 2. No decision as to whether he would attend was announced, but it is expected he will go, which lends color to the report that he will make a more extended speaking trip of the middle west than has heretofore been thought.

TO INSURE EDUCATORS.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 31.—What is believed to be a precedent was announced this afternoon when the Milwaukee Automobile Dealers' association in charge of the coming Vanderbilt cup races here in September, made public plans to insure every person attending the three days events. With each ticket will be issued an insure policy against accident. During the racing period the association will carry $150,000 liability for the purpose.

FISHER FINER; ROASTED

PETALUMA, Cal., Aug. 31.—Secretary of the Interior Fisher sailed for Honolulu this afternoon carrying $10 less in his pocketbook and the recollection of a scorching lecture delivered by Police Judge Dillon here. Fisher was arrested for speeding his automobile while enroute to visit Luther Burbank, the plant wizard, at Santa Rosa.

SEE CLOVEN HOOF IN TAFT'S ACTION

Senator Bacon Says President Exceeded Authority
in Sending Men to Nicaragua

WAS DONE FOR CAPITALIST

Declares Only Motive Was
to Protect Americans Who Would Lose if
Rebels Won

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 31.—Senator A. O. Bacon of Georgia today scathingly criticised President Taft for ordering American soldiers to Nicaragua. He denounced Taft's order as "contrary to the constitution and without any authority of law."

"In my opinion the sending of infantry and armed sailors into Nicaragua by the president without authority from congress is not only without sanction of the law but absolutely in violation of the law," said Bacon.

"Of course, it is recognized that under certain circumstances small bodies of marines may be landed in a foreign country, for instance, to protect American consulates, but that is a very different matter from sending an army into a foreign country to take sides between two conflicting factions within that country."

"In Nicaragua I have no doubt that the whole proceedings are in the interest of some American capitalist, who has lent money to the existing government, and who would lose his money should that government be overturned."

"The senate has appointed an investigating committee and the whole matter will be sifted to the bottom."

Others Need Watching

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Eight hundred marines today sailed for Nicaragua from Panama aboard the California and will make the total American force there 1,800. But the Nicaraguan situation is only a part of the Central American troubles of the state department. Cuba, Mexico, Panama and Honduras also are objects of diplomatic attention.

Strong representation was made to the Cuban legation demanding the punishment of the Havana reporter who assaulted Henry H. Gibson, the American charge d'affaires.

In Panama there was considerable anti-American sentiment by reason of the enforced resignation of the chief of police on the demand of American Minister Dodge.

Professional revolutionists in Honduras were reported to be again active following developments in Nicaragua and it was feared there would be more Honduran trouble.

Continued rumblings of anti-American feeling were heard from the Mexican border, adding to the anvil chorus.

Reports indicating that the Nicaraguan government forces are beginning to quell the rebels reached the state department today. American Minister Weitzel cabled that the government won a victory yesterday near El Guayabal, by capturing a rebel convoy and a large quantity of ammunition, which included 80,000 rounds of rapid-fire cartridges. The convoy is said to be one which Gen. Menz was sending to his rebel assistant Baca at Leon. The Salvadoran minister in Nicaragua has returned to Managua from Leon, where he describes conditions as appalling. The rebels are pillaging stores and houses.

FAKE CHINESE COINS

PROMINENT FOREIGNERS SAID TO BE IMPLICATED IN MANUFACTURE OF COUNTERFEIT NOTES

CHANGHAI, Aug. 31.—That very prominent men, including foreigners well as Chinese, were interested in the counterfeiting plant seized recently in the French settlement, was rumored here today. The French police are sweating the sixty Chinese workmen arrested in connection with the rail. They promise an international sensation if they succeed in making out cases against the suspects "higher up."

Since the revolution China has been flooded with counterfeit republican notes to an enormous amount—probably millions of dollars. They cannot be told even by experts from the genuine money, which is rather crudely executed.

"The Rosary"
I have always believed that a play dealing with the tremendous power of our human thoughts was really needed upon the stage. Men and women rise in the morning and go about their work heedless of the fact that it is their own attitude of mind that brings them success or failure. That is what is shown in "The Rosary," a beautiful new play from the pen of Edward E. Rose and produced by Messrs. Gaskell and MacVitty which will play at the La Crosse Theater tomorrow, Sunday, matinee and night.

You can see the effect of thought upon the different individuals. One character is that of a business man happily married to a wife who loves him. But his thought is wrong. He harbors fear, doubt and unbelief in the good that lies all around him. He loses all—fortune, friends, home, wife, even his own self-respect. How does it all end? Go and see "The Rosary."

"The Wolf," Eugene Walter's great play of life in the Canadian Hudson Bay country, is announced for presentation in this city next Monday, matinee and evening at the La Crosse Theater with all its trappings, stage accessories, elaborate scenery and light effects, precisely the same as seen in New York and Chicago.

Mr. Allan Dale, the celebrated writer on the New York American, said in an issue of that paper of April 20th:

"Let me say right here without further parley, that in 'The Wolf,' Mr. Eugene Walter has most assuredly confirmed our impression that he is a 'find.' His second play in a melodrama, vivid but primitive, vital but unfledged. It is direct, terse, capably written, sincere and free from conventional floundering."

"The Wolf" hit the first-nighters in spite of all. This was an achievement. It was a great feat. It proved beyond the peradventure of a doubt that young Mr. Walter is made of the right dramatic stuff.

"Paid in Full" was not a fluke. It was the work of an artist. For further particulars apply to 'The Wolf.'

"When one recalls this young playwright's own admission that, just before the production of 'Paid in Full' he was sleeping in parks, and struggling for the right to nourish his poor outward shell, one cannot help applauding the fine hand of eternal justice."

"Everything comes to him who waits," is apparently correct. It is

WIFE SAYS SPOUSE IS HER ASSAILANT

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 31.—Agnes Cartello Abenstein, 27, formerly of Kansas City, Mo., who recently finished an engagement with the Ziegfeld Moulin Rouge company, was shot in the left breast while riding in an automobile between Bronte and Oakville, today. She was not seriously injured, owing to the fact that a steel in her corset deflected the bullet and forced it upwards.

The man who did the shooting she alleged, was Clarence Abenstein, her husband, of Chicago, who was riding in another automobile. The woman's companion was David Gillespie of Chicago and a chauffeur.

The husband sped away after the shooting and has not been heard of since, while the woman and her companion made their way for Buffalo, after receiving medical aid from Dr. W. B. Hopkins and telling her story to the police.

WOULD FORCE PEACE

BERLIN, Aug. 31.—Diplomats here today informally discussed the advisability of calling a convention of the signatories of the treaty of Berlin to bring Turkey and Italy to an agreement. It seems plain that peace negotiations between them have failed. It is said the Turks object to a convention because they think it would lead to an attempt at settlement of Balkan disorders generally perhaps to Turkey's prejudice. It was reported today that Italy was preparing to send 20,000 more troops to attack the Syrian coast to force Turkey to speedier terms.

DO JUSTICE TO JOHN J. ESCH

The case of Dahl vs. Esch is to be tried before the voters of the Seventh congressional district next Tuesday. Mr. Dahl has assailed the public activities of Mr. Esch. Mr. Esch has replied that Mr. Dahl's charges are partly false, and that where facts are stated they are only half-facts, so handled as to mislead and distort.

The Tribune has published both the charges and the answer. Our examination of the record convinces us that Mr. Esch has the better of the argument. We are not in accord with all his votes. Neither are we in accord with all the votes in the house and the senate of any other member or senator. While men have the power to think men will disagree, and no congressman whom we send to Washington will be able to satisfy all of his constituents. Therefore, we believe, the test should be the character of the big affirmative acts performed by the congressman.

If that be the test, Mr. Esch emphatically deserves renomination. To his neighbors and friends we say: You have no right to decide against him without reading his answer in which he annihilates most of the important contentions of Mr. Dahl. Take only those criticisms of him that seem to "stand up," and over against them place his record of law making for humanity's sake. There are the white sulphur bill, the hours of service law, the anti-rebating law, the physical valuation bill and a dozen others that aim at the betterment of wage earners and those business interests independent of the trusts.

Draw this comparison, and then determine whether it would be right to permit the retirement of that kindly scholar who in eighteen years of service presenting opportunities for enrichment that have made millions out of men more susceptible to temptation has not profited beyond the modest salary of the office. This is conclusive evidence of his integrity. Of his distinguished ability the whole nation is convinced. We say to you that you must confront yourself with a reason for his defeat more convincing than that of those who, one moment quoting the assertion that "Public buildings are the little graft which the machine gives in exchange for big graft," in the next campaigns against him because he didn't happen to appoint "their man" to a postoffice.

THE STRONG CASE OF MR. BLEEKMAN

The republicans of La Crosse county ought to be pretty nearly unanimous for the nomination of A. E. Bleekman for the office of district attorney. We draw this conclusion from the record.

When Mr. Bleekman left the college of law of the state university, which graduated him in 1901, his father was in failing health. The latter shortly thereafter gave up business, lingering on in invalidism for a number of years, and a double burden fell upon the young lawyer.

For six months after leaving school Mr. Bleekman was associated with a local paper, and while there formed his political ideas, aligning himself with the progressive movement which had developed rapidly during the earlier years of his father's decline. He then entered the law office and assumed full charge of the business and the responsibility for the home where he had become the head of the house.

For eleven years he has conducted this law business, and during all that time he has been identified with the activities of the progressive republican party, serving it both as secretary and chairman. He has taken the stump in campaigns and devoted himself to its service in his daily work and conversation.

Four years ago and again two years ago he was urged to run for district attorney, but other candidates who had served the party well having entered the field in each case,

Mr. Bleekman generously stepped aside. This year, however, there appeared no aspirant who ranked with Mr. Bleekman in business and professional experience or in party service, and he felt justified in presenting his very substantial claims for party support. That the justice of his case will be widely recognized should be a foregone conclusion.

THE COLLAPSE OF THE KAREL BOOM

At this writing there seems little doubt that the Karel "boom," like the baker who encountered the boom, "has swiftly and silently vanished away."

It never had any standing as a serious issue involving studiously presented principles. It came into existence only because the reactionaries of both parties wanted a reactionary candidate; it survived for a time only because "Ikey" Karel is one of the finest fellows in the world, a man of captivating personality and frankly generous impulses. In other words, seeking to make the supposed hostility to the income tax the inspiration for a formidable reactionary movement, the standpaters attempted to capitalize the popularity of the young Milwaukee jurist. For a time the plan seemed to "stand up;" but when Wisconsin voters have "slept on" an issue they always line up on the side of just government, and the collapse of the Karel boom needs no other explanation.

Were The Tribune inclined to be adroit in this matter it would urge the nomination of Judge Karel, for in the support which it will give Francis E. McGovern Karel would prove much the easier opponent. But if the Wilson movement should perchance carry the state ticket with it, we would feel that we had not done our duty should there be elected a reactionary democrat whose nomination had been secured without protest from us.

With Mr. Bryan openly demanding the nomination of Schmitz, with every state leader who enjoys the privilege of speaking for Governor Wilson supporting Schmitz, and with La Follette warning democrats against Karel, the issue seems to be squarely before the democratic voters. When the smoke clears away next Tuesday Milwaukee may congratulate herself that, after all, she has not lost the services of the humane young judge who has been doing a great work among the masses of that city.

LET ALL VOTERS THINK THIS OVER

If elected to the office of county treasurer, Frank Aiken, who learned the meaning of duty when he carried a rifle in the Civil War, will be "on the job." He is capable and industrious. No other candidate for office is better qualified than he; and we take it that, other things being equal, the citizens of this nation owe special consideration to the men who slept in the trenches and hurled themselves against the breastworks in the holy war for the emancipation of slaves and the preservation of the union of the United States of America.

PUBLIC OFFICE IS A MATTER OF BUSINESS

The candidacy of Bert Vincent for clerk of the circuit court rests upon the proposition that the paramount issue with regard to this office is service, and no one will rise to contend that the advantage of good service has been regularly enjoyed there by the public. We cannot subscribe to the proposition that sympathy in any case should go so far as to continuously handicap public business.

Perhaps no two congressmen among the progressives (it is typical of progressives to disagree, for they vote upon their individual judgment whereas the "regulars" vote on orders) have voted alike as often as have Esch and Cooper. But when Cooper found opposition in his district there was a rush of state La Follette leaders to defend him.

Ever stop to think how handy it is to order a yeast cake from your grocer several blocks away and have it delivered at your door? That is a convenience for which you would not trade the mail order service.

We take it that the existence of a postoffice building in any community is evidence that the district has a corrupt congressman.

The Glory Reflector
Should So and So score a big hit on the stage,
Should So and So win a big race,
Should So and So's name get the very first page,

Somebody who'll stop me to tell
Of So and So's glory, then proudly repeat:
"I know Mr. So and So well!"

Whenever a hero appears to be hailed,
When a new victor comes to the fore,
I know in my heart that I'll soon be assailed.
By the glory reflector once more.
I know that I shall not get far down the street
Ere some one will let his head swell
And force me to swallow this morsel so sweet;
"I know Mr. So and So well."

I can stand for the man who inanely inquires
If it's hot enough for me, and I
Can stand for the nuisance who jests about fires
Whenever a new suit I buy.
I can stand for the man with a stock of conceit,
I can bear his vain boasting a spell,
But I can't go to the fellow we're all forced to meet:
The man who knows So and So well!"

The MAN in the BROWN DERBY by WELLS HASTINGS Author of The Professor's Mystery Copyright, 1911 by Bobbs-Merrill Co.

"Nancy!" I cried out, and tried weakly to sit up in bed. The shout which I had intended sounded weak and faint, but she heard it; for the singing in the other room had stopped, and I turned my head slowly to find her by the bedside. She put her hand to my face and gently stooped and kissed me, and as she did so, a tear fell on my cheek.

"What is it?" I whispered anxiously; "what is it?"
"Nothing, dear," she said, "only gladness, gladness to find you so."
"I am all right," I answered. "I remember everything perfectly now, Nancy. At least, I think—" and broke off, possessed by a sudden fear.

"What is it?" said Nancy gently. "We were married yesterday, weren't we?" asked. "We really married, and everything is all right? I know we were. I remember all about it."
Nancy kissed me again.

"Certainly we were," she said; "beautifully married, but I do not think you should talk any more."
"Certainly I can talk," I said. "I remember it all now. He shot me, didn't he? That's why I feel a little weak this morning, but I am feeling quite strong again now, and I want to talk." And indeed, with Nancy close beside me, my fallen strength seemed to come surging back over me again like a wave.

"I don't think you should," Nancy said doubtfully. "I think you ought to try to go to sleep."
"Sleep?" I repeated; "why, I've slept all night and had bad dreams. I certainly do not want to sleep any more. I want you to tell me about it. Did he go away?"

She bowed, I suppose, to the inevitable.
"Yes, dear," she said quietly, "he got away. He thought he'd killed you, I think, and was frightened at what he had done; for he turned and ran before anybody else came up."

"Well, how did I get here?" I asked.
"People came," Nancy said, "and I sent some one for a carriage."
"Yes, I remember," I replied; "an awful, jolting carriage, and you held me, Nancy; held me all the way home. Are you not tired today?"

Nancy smiled. "It was not yesterday, Mason," she said. "You've been very sick and have had a fever."
"Oh," I replied blankly. Then at last, "How long ago was it? Don't be afraid to tell me. I want to know."

"It was nine days ago, Mason." I lay and pondered upon this for a while. Once I tried to raise my hand to take Nancy's, but I could not do it, and she stopped me with a gesture.

"No," said Nancy, "you are to keep very quiet. The doctor was insistent on that."
"What does he know about it?" I asked fretfully. "Little country doctors are always fussy."
"But he isn't a little country doctor," said Nancy. "He's one of the greatest surgeons in America. That attack on you got into the papers, Mason, and the next morning some friend of yours, signing himself 'Ogilby,' telegraphed from New York that he was sending a surgeon down and in the afternoon the surgeon came. I do want to tell you something so, only I promised not to until he has seen you again."

"All I want you to tell me is that you love me. You must keep telling me that, Nancy, if you expect me to get well quickly."

Nancy laughed happily, and told me in a very effective way.
"It seems hardly right," I said, "to be so absolutely happy. Oh, I know it is right, the rightest thing in life, but I can't help being sorry for the rest of the world. I wonder." I asked, stirred by a sudden uneasy thought, "what has happened to all those poor people we left behind us in the sanatorium?"

"You got a letter about them," said Nancy. "I saw the postmark, and opened it, because I thought you would want me to. It was from Doctor Mayhew, and he says he has kept his promise to you and broken up the place. It was written on steamer paper, and came back by the pilot boat. Mrs. Lathrop has come over here four or five times to inquire about you, and I read it to her." Nancy laughed. "She hopes that he has eloped with Mrs. Olsen. She said it would serve them both right. And now, Mason, you mustn't talk any more, and I must wet your bandages."

I lay quietly while she flitted in and out of the room, a lovely little vision, seriously bent on her ministrations. She did not touch the bandage at my shoulder, but moistened those about my hands with something delightfully cool and refreshing.

Just as she was finishing her work I heard the drumming of an approaching motor car, and lay contentedly listening to it, thinking of that last strange ride we had taken together. It did not even stir my surprise that the car apparently came to a stop before our gate; but Nancy left the room, and I heard her going to the front door. Presently there came a subdued sound of men's voices in the hall below. Then steps sounded on the stairs, and a big, fresh-faced young fellow came into the room, followed by a figure in dust-coat and motor goggles, with his cap still pulled down firmly on his head. Last of all came Nancy.

"Why, Mr. Ogilby!" I said, forgetting in my surprise his wish to remain unknown.
"I felt the need of an outing," said Mr. Ogilby, "and I wanted to see with my own eyes how you were getting on, so I brought the doctor down in my car. I found motoring so pleasant when I made the trip to Winifred that as soon as I got back to the city I bought a car of my own."

Nancy changed color a little, and stood with her hands clasped at her breast, a gesture which I already knew meant that she was troubled or puzzled. But the doctor had come to my bedside, and already was taking the wet bandages from my hands.

"Glad to see you so well this morning," he said briefly. "This is fine, this is fine. Mrs. Ellsworth, I would like to give you some further directions about the case." He rapidly replaced the bandages; and with a smile over her shoulder at me, Nancy left the room with him.

WINONA RESIDENT KILLED BY TRAIN

Northwestern Passenger
Strikes Aged Man as He Picks Coal from the Tracks

FAILED TO HEAR THE WHISTLE

Body Thrown Far Into the Air; Dies Before Horrified Passengers Reach Body

John R. Spencer, an early resident of Winona, was killed at 11:20 a. m. yesterday, when he was struck by a Northwestern passenger train near the tower house in the extreme west end of Winona. The aged man was picking coal along the right of way and although the engineer of the train, Z. Martin of Waseca, saw the obstruction and attempted to stop, the locomotive struck him with terrific force, threw his mangled body fifty feet to one side and killed him instantly.

The train went back to the point where Spencer had been hit. The body was brought to the Northwestern station and the coroner notified. A small cart was found along the track, partly filled with coal, and it is apparent that the victim was picking coal along this right of way. It is said that this practice had been his custom for several years.

The accident is attributed to the defective hearing of Mr. Spencer. Although the whistle of the locomotive sounded he paid no attention to its warning.

Mr. Spencer lived at 1206 West Fifth street and up to a few years ago was an employe of the Winona Wagon company. He is survived by a wife and one daughter, Mrs. Earl Scott of Winona.

No arrangements have been made for the services but they will probably be held Sunday from the Free Baptist church.

KNIEBUSCH AGENT OF NORTHWESTERN

A. V. Kniebusch has been appointed freight and passenger agent of the Chicago and Northwestern railway here, succeeding W. L. Colburn, who has held the position here for some years. Mr. Colburn has been promoted to the position of traveling agent, with headquarters at Sioux City, Iowa. Mr. Kniebusch has been cashier for the company here for the past four years. He has been in the employ of the Northwestern road for over twenty years—at Beloit and other places. He is a thorough railroader, well known to local business men, and the news of his promotion has pleased many.

Are the Fly and Mosquito Dangerous?

The fly, with spongy feet, collects the invisible germs of diseases, spreads them over our food and poisons us with typhoid and cholera. The mosquito with its bite injects into our veins malaria and yellow fever. The bacteria of consumption, or grip, are everywhere present for us to breathe into our lungs. The blood which flows through our veins and arteries is our protection. It should contain healthy red and white blood corpuscles—capable of warding off these disease germs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood medicine and alternative made entirely without alcohol, a pure glyceric extract of bloodroot, golden seal, Oregon grape root, queen's root, mandrake and stone root, which has enjoyed a good reputation for over forty years. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood is bathed in the tonic which gives life to the blood—the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated during the winter.

"About forty years ago while in Newark, New Jersey, I had chills and fever," writes Mr. MICHAEL MAGUIRE, of National Military Home, Kans. "I went to Kansas City and in the spring of 1877 the chills and fever returned. Doctors and everything I tried failed to do me good. Finally I saw Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery advertised. I took one bottle of it and the chills vanished. In about a year afterward I felt them coming back so I got another bottle and have never had any symptoms of fever or ague since. That is all of twenty years ago, for I had the chills about twelve years before I started to take Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are for liver ills.

PREDICTS WORST CAR SHORTAGE

Railway Official Says Roads
Will Have Great Diffculty in Moving
Crops

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—Prediction of the worst car shortage in the history
of the United States and declaring that, in his opinion, the shortage will amount to near 200,000 cars by October 1, W. A. Garrett, chairman of the Association of Western Railroads, today sent a circular letter to all railroad managers, requesting that letters be sent to shippers, asking them to co-operate with the roads in preventing the famine.

HE FAVORS WILSON

RUDOLPH SPRECKLES CHOOSES
DEMOCRAT AS BEST MAN
FOR SEAT IN PRESI-DENT'S CHAIR

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 31.—Rudolph Spreckles discusses the presidential candidates in a contribution to La Follette's Weekly today, and concludes that Gov. Wilson deserves the people's support this year. Most of his criticism is directed at Col.
Roosevelt whom he describes as the Wall street candidate. On the other hand, he declares, the special privilege interests will not support Wilson.

Spreckles charges that Wall street
turned to Roosevelt to split the Progressive Republican ranks.

"I make the positive assertion,"
he says, "that Col. Roosevelt knew as early as September, 1911, that Wall street interests would be agreeable to his candidacy, and I believe it was this knowledge more than any other single consideration that induced Roosevelt to become a candidate, for he knew better than any one else that a big campaign fund
is needed to win a national election,
and Big Business when interested in a candidate always contributes the money needed. From what has occurred since September, 1911, it must now be admitted that the desertion of La Follette for Roosevelt was deliberately planned by men
known to be Roosevelt lieutenants.
Roosevelt became the progressive candidate in opposition to La Follette, the true progressive. Roosevelt obtained almost unlimited financial aid from men known to be interested in the big trusts, and the rest of the country gave him—the
"X-president"—as much or more notice than it gave Taft, the president."

And may a man does the things
privately at he denounces in public.

URGES CHOICE OF GOOD ATTORNEYS

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 31.—An educational campaign to convince the people of the necessity of electing
district attorneys wise in the law,
was recommended in a special report on that office submitted to the American Institute of Criminal Law
and Criminology by M. B. Rosenberry, Wausau, Wis.

"The tendency of the American voting public to elect the popular or bestow the office upon some young
and ambitious attorney simply because they think he 'needs the money' and 'ought to be given a chance' results in placing the affairs of the country in hands wholly unfit to handle them," said Rosenberry.

surprised in a narrow pass and driven
back to the rebel base at Coyame.
The federals followed up the victory
and have been reinforced with cavalry. An attack on Coyame has been ordered. There are 1,200 rebels at Coyame commanded by General Orozco.

NEW BRANCH OF CAMPFIRE GIRLS

Young Woman of Cherokee
Heritage in Charge of New Oklahoma Organization

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Aug. 31.—The second camp of the Camp Fire Girls
to be organized west of the Mississippi river was instituted recently at
"Sawokla," the home of Miss Alice Robertson, near Muskogee. Miss
Robertson, who is the only woman
postmaster of a first class postoffice
in the United States, is sponsor for the new camp and will be the camp
guide.

The camp is unique in the fact that while the Camp Fire Girls generally wear a modified form of Indian suit and receive beads in Indian fashion as visible symbols of honors won, this camp has as its sponsor a former missionary and teacher among the Indians and who probably is better versed in the history of the five civilized Indian tribes
than any one living.

At the head of the camp is a girl
of Cherokee heritage, Sarah Hitchcock, whose ancestry blends the aristocracy of Cherokee blood with that of a family of missionaries.
Miss Hitchcock's great-grandfather,
Jacob Hitchcock, was the first white
missionary to come to old Indian Territory. He rode horseback from Massachusetts to Indian Territory in 1821 and in 1829 founded the Dwight mission, the first mission
school in Indian Territory.

At the first meeting of the camp
at "Sawokla," Miss Robertson's home, the girls of the camp built
their first campfire on a huge flat
rock on Agency hill, where wandering tribes of Creek Indians used to build their signal fires.

CUBA SORE BUT AFRAID OF U. S.

HAVANA, Aug. 31.—The Cuban government continued to waver today between its fear of antagonizing
local anti-American sentiment and its realization of the hopelessness of defying the United States. Enrique Maza, who assaulted American Charge d'Affaires Hugh S. Gibson, is, indeed, again looked up for the third time, but the persistence
with which he has been released
leaves no doubt that Secretary of State Sanguly wants the case against him dropped and would drop
it if Gibson would let him.

RELIGIOUS FANATIC INSANE

WAUKESHA, Wis., Aug. 31.—
John Emerson Rowe, 55, town of Brookfield, was pronounced insane
by Drs. J. P. Ward and U. J. Tibbitts
and committed to Mendota asylum.
Rowe is a zealous church attendant
and has been connected with the Salvation Army and Holy Jumpers. He stated in court that he frequently
had communication with the apostles.

RIOT IN PRISON

JACKSON, Mich., Aug. 31.—serious riot is reported to have broken
out among the convicts in the state prison here today. The alleged outbreak occurred in the dining room
which was said to have been partially wrecked. Employees of the institution decline to give out any information regarding the affair.

"MEDICINES" ARE DRINKS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Sixty
patent medicinal preparations were put on internal revenue commissioner Cabell's "booze" list today. Hereafter their manufacturers will have to pay Uncle Sam a special tax just like that paid by brewers and distillers.

BRAZIL POLITICS BLOODY

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 31.—
Supporters of the financial governor
were today to kill everyone concerned in lynching one of their number charged with attempting to assassinate Lauro Sodre, a rival candidate, according to messages from Para. Bloody fighting is feared.

WISCONSIN DAIRY PRODUCTS $80,000,000

THE WISCONSIN LIVE STOCK
BREEDERS' ASSOCIATION
(By Richard W. Rowlands, Field Director).

It is but natural that such an industry as that of raising live stock
should have a statewide organization to promote its interests.

That Wisconsin dairy products
have a valuation of $80,000,000 a year; that we produce twice as much cheese as any other state in the union; that we exceed every state in the production of butter; that Wisconsin dairy animals are in demand
the world over; that Wisconsin brood horses are given a preference in that greatest of horse markets, Chicago;
that Wisconsin sheep return each
fall carrying the highest laurels
from almost every fair of note in the middle west; all these and more, are well known to many residents of this developing and progressive commonwealth and only establish the fact that, because of its ideal climate and soil conditions, Wisconsin is essentially a live stock state.

We have all heard that permanent agriculture is not possible without live stock; that on it depends largely
the future productiveness of our state, and the prosperity of our people. However, it is not by raising a little live stock but by stocking our farms well up to their limit that we can increase their fertility. Naturally this stock must be raised at a profit else the object is not accomplished. Our most successful farmers are those whose farms are the most heavily stocked with good live stock, and when we investigate their past, we find that with few exceptions, these men began where the rank and file of farmers are today.

The object of the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders' association is to aid
the man who is not doing what he would like to be, or is capable of doing; whose cattle are "the ringed,
streaked and speckled," and whose horses belong to the class that are not in demand, whose fields no longer grow the bounteous crops they once did, whose home lacks the comforts he would like to supply his family, and whose sons are leaving the farm. We find that but five percent of the Wisconsin farms are stocked to their present limit. Wisconsin supports one head of live stock to every six acres, and our European countries which have been growing crops for centuries, have one animal to every two to four acres. While we have whole herds
in the state, which on the average produce from 350 to 500 pounds of butter, the average production of a dairy cow in Wisconsin is not more than 175 pounds or barely enough

ONE WOMAN DEFENDS HER FAVORITE HAIR DRESSING

HERPICIDE.

While shopping the most annoying thing for me is to have someone
try to sell me something "just as good" when I ask for Newbro's Her-picide. To be sure there are not many druggists who do this, but what few there are should know that such a policy will destroy the customer's confidence. When they try it on me I never wait for the story, simply hunt a store where they will sell me what I want.

It is absurd for anyone to say that a preparation is as good as Herpicide. I don't think they believe it themselves. Every druggist
knows that there is but one genuine,

original dandruff germ destroyer
and that is Newbro's Herpicide.
It keeps the head free from dandruff, prevents the hair from coming
out and stops itching of the scalp.
Herpicide is really a wonderful remedy which does just what you want and expect it to do.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers
who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied
your money will be refunded.

Send 10c in postage for a sample

troit, Mich. Hoeschler Bros., special to pay for their board. When we find that 97 per cent of the bulls used in the state are scrubs we recognize that there is sufficient cause for this low average. Fifty-five per cent of the stallions used in the state are not pure bred, and thus the story is continued with sheep, swine, and poultry. With such conditions prevailing, and such methods common,

will it be possible, without a complete revolution, for the average farmer to ever attain a reasonable success?

Can the Wisconsin Live Stock
Breeders' association and kindred organizations do anything to continue and stimulate improvement? The question can best be answered by reviewing what has already been accomplished by the various agricultural bodies of which there are now
about seventy-five in Wisconsin.

The State Dairymen's association,
which is probably the oldest, was responsible for the establishment of the dairy school at Madison, thereby setting the corner stone for the state's greatest agricultural pursuit.

Out of this organization grew the Butter and Cheese Makers' associations, with a combined membership
of nearly 3,000, both of which have done much to develop their respective industries, and in recognition of whose work the legislature regularly
appropriates funds to aid in encouraging the production of more and better cheese and butter in Wisconsin. This association, too, originated and is now promoting the cow
testing associations, one of the most active of agencies in revealing the inefficiency of the scrub.

The fruit growers of the state, organized into the State Horticultural society, and co-operating with the College of Agriculture, have succeeded in turning the eyes of hundreds from the embellished, highly colored, and many times fictitious propositions of the west, to the real concrete probabilities of our own
state, and as a natural sequence we have the well developed fruit areas
in Door, Bayfield and Monroe counties as well as other districts.

The Wisconsin Agricultural Experimental association, organized for the purpose of growing more and better grains in Wisconsin, with its 50
or more subsidiary organizations,
has very materially aided in placing Wisconsin in the front rank among the seed grain producing states of the union, and has made it almost foolish for any competitor to appear before them in the great grain contests of the world.

If organization can accomplish all
this for these various industries, a few of which have been enumerated,
is it not logical that a marvelous
work can be done in the Wisconsin
Live Stock Breeders' association,
which represents a valuation of about $160,000,000? Other states have recognized the seed of such an organization and have led Wisconsin
in the work. In Indiana the association receives the personal supervision of Professor J. H. Skinner, dean of the Purdue College of Agriculture,
and exerts a large influence for more
and better live stock in that state.

There are many ways in which the work might be propagated in Wisconsin. Many plans have been suggested, and some have been decided upon, first, the running of "Live Stock Specials" through southern,
western and upper Wisconsin. Second, the organization and encouragement of community breeding associations over the entire state. As the county order is a help to the young breeder and beginner, so the state association should support and assist
the county organizations, and bring to them the benefit of a parent association. Through these, now covering associations might be formed.
Some counties in the southern part of the state have an estimated average production per cow of 200 pounds of butter. If this could be made true of the entire state, it would mean an added revenue to the state of Wisconsin of $20,000,000 a year.

Another ambition of the officers of the association is to build for the state of Wisconsin a reputation for fair and honest dealing. In connection with the present heavy demand
for Wisconsin dairy stock, from all over the United States, there is always the temptation to "do by the other fellow as we would not that he should do by us." And next to the stock itself, there is nothing more important to the welfare of the industry than fair and honest dealing.
In order that this association may succeed and may help the farmer to succeed, it needs the support of every smaller organization.

WANTS TO BE KILLED

NEW YORK WOMAN PARALYTIC
URGES PASSAGE OF LAW
BY STATE LEGALIZING
EUTHANASIA

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The legal
and moral issue of euthanasia was forcibly and pathetically presented today in an appeal to the people of the state of New York by Mrs. Sarah Harris, an incurable paralytic,
who prays for enactment of a law
which would permit her physicians
to end her sufferings by death.

A year ago a grand jury at Kissimee, Fla., tacitly approved the theory of euthanasia, refusing to return a verdict against two Shakers
who "assisted the passing of the spirit" of one of their members, a hopeless invalid who besought death
as the only relief from her sufferings.

Mrs. Harris seeks passage of a law specifically permitting physicians painlessly to end the life of any person whose disease is incurable and who desires death rather than lingering suffering. She is a patient at the Audubon sanitarium and literally living in death. Paralysis has stricken every faculty save that of speech and brain. Physicians can do nothing. The woman in her early thirties was the wife of a man in comfortable circumstances and it may be years before the spark of life
is extinguished.

WILSON AFTER MOOSE

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE TELLS MARKSMEN HE IS AFTER BIG GAME HIMSELF; WOULD GET MOOSE HEAD

SEA GIRT, N. J., Aug. 31.—Gov. Wilson took a shot at the bull moose today when he greeted several hundred guardsmen attending the match of the National Rifle association. He said: "I think that comradeship in arms is better than any other comradeship. I mean in doing things not merely for yourself, for no man carries arms merely for himself but for the country, the community. I have explained to my comrades in New Jersey that through a partial loss of eyesight I now pretend that I used to be a great shot."

"My sport has been in the political jungle and I have had some real sport and have brought down some real specimens. I am now on the trail of some fine game. I hope to have either the skin or the head mounted—perhaps both the skin and the head. I have plenty of room for such political trophies."

Roosevelt ran back to his place on the speaker's stand. "I haven't time to answer the valiant creature who has just spoken," he shouted. "The creature who waited until I was going away before making his cowardly attack." Then T. R. was whirled off amid cheers.

TURN 'EM AWAY AT THE BIJOU

Thousands Flock to Third Street House to Hear Goetzinger on New Pipe Organ

The S. R. O. sign was out at the Bijou for a little while last night, but not for long. They had to take it in, because there wasn't any more standing room, even. Every show given at the recently remodeled picture house last night was packed to capacity, thousands flocking to hear Walter Goetzinger draw music from the expensive new pipe organ which has just been installed. Last night was the first time that the pipe organ has been heard at the Bijou, and the new departure created great enthusiasm. The applause after every number Mr. Goetzinger played was tremendous, and calls for encores were so frequent that the management had to order the blind organist to ignore them in order to let the show continue.

Ambrose Coughlin, north side boy soprano, was recalled several times after both his solos, repeating the big hit he has made whenever he sang in public.

The management of the Bijou announces that the pipe organ will be used for every show given. It will be in constant service, with Mr. Goetzinger at the keyboard. The theater has been newly remodeled and its owners claim for it the position of the best in the city. Its ventilation and lighting systems are the best that science has devised, and the seating accommodations are roomy and comfortable.

The special program on the pipe organ will be repeated tonight.

SIDNEY ON LAST TRIP

MOONLIGHT EXCURSION TONIGHT AND WINONA TRIP TOMORROW LAST OF LA CROSSE SEASON

The last moonlight excursion given on the steamer Sidney will start this evening, and tomorrow the same steamer will take its last crowd up the river to Winona. The Sidney is the largest stern wheel steamer on the river in the excursion trade, and one of the biggest boats in any line on the Mississippi and its tributaries. It has a dance floor 160 feet long and thirty feet wide, and a first class orchestra. The dance music supplied is one of the special features about a trip on the Sidney, the musicians being men of ability who have been associated for some time. Most of them were members of the orchestra on the ill fated J. S. The trip to Winona, probably the last excursion up the river of the year, will leave the levee at 9:30 in the morning and will return at 7:30 in the evening. At Winona another crowd will be taken aboard and brought to La Crosse. They will be returned the same evening. After these two trips, the Sidney will leave the upper river, and go south to New Orleans for the winter season.

LITTLE BECAUSE SHE WAS STUNTED

Nancy McCoy, charged with abusing Blanche Rogers, French Island with the assertion "You are little because you are stunted," and other declarations which Mrs. Rogers says tended to provoke an assault, appeared in court this morning and announced she would bring a counter charge against Mrs. Rogers. Mrs. McCoy asked for an adjournment of one week.

Just previous to the arraignment of Nancy McCoy, Frank Rogers, father of Blanche Rogers, pleaded guilty of using abusive language to his wife and paid a fine of $1. Divorce proceedings which were instigated by Mrs. Frank Rogers, are now pending in circuit court.

CEMENT COMPANY IN NEED OF HELP

A circumstance which is indicative of the prosperity of the Atlas Portland Cement company's branch factory at Hannibal, Mo., comes in the form of a demand for laborers of all kinds. This factory has just announced that it will run the entire season, and is unable to secure enough help. The conditions under which the employees work in this institution are the most pleasant and the wages are the highest ever paid for the work.

This demand is one of the best indications of the prosperity not only of the Atlas Portland Cement company, but of Hannibal and the surrounding country.

WOMAN DETECTIVE CLIMBS TO FAME

Widow of Dead Patrolman Wins Way to Head of
New York Detective
Force

In the September Woman's Home Companion appears the following account of Mrs. Isabella Goodwin, the famous detective in New York city in connection with the police department.

"Here is a real Sherlock Holmes who has been instrumental in the capture of hundreds of lawbreakers without smoking a single pipeful of tobacco. She is Mrs. Isabella Goodwin, police matron, recently promoted to detective of the first grade on the New York city force, with a salary of $2,250 a year, in recognition of her services in procuring the capture of the 'taxicab bandits,' whose reckless exploits had startled the city. Mrs. Goodwin is a widow, forty-seven years old, the mother of three children, and her home life is as peacefully busy as that of any village housekeeper. Since the death of her husband, a roundsman on the police force, fifteen years ago, until her recent promotion, Mrs. Goodwin served as a police matron, incidentally exercising her gift as a detective in quietly gathering evidence against hundreds of dangerous frauds and quacks.

"Her elder son is a detective of the first grade; her sister is a department store detective, and her daughter, also, has already manifested ability in detective work. When the taxicab bandits, after robbing two bank messengers of twenty-five thousand dollars, had seemingly baffled the police, Mrs. Goodwin was enlisted in the case. By impersonating the sister of the landlady of a boarding house frequented by friends of the robbers, she was enabled gradually to pick up information that was invaluable to the authorities in running down the criminals. It was this case that won her promotion and official standing as a detective; yet through fifteen years of service she had already done an enormous amount of even more valuable though less sensational work in obtaining evidence against over five hundred dangerous swindlers—astrologers, palmists, fortune tellers, crystal-gazers, phycists, trance mediums, Hindu magicians, quack doctors and surgeons, and others that in the large cities prey upon foolish people, almost unmolested because of the difficulty of proving that they actually violate the law."

New Brand of Flour Made
from Special High Grade Wheat; Firm Recently Incorporated

The latest addition to the manufacturing facilities of the Thomas-Phalon company was the establishment of the La Crosse Electric Mill at Front and Pearl streets, during the past summer, at a cost of over $6,000.

The firm of Thomas-Phalon has been operating in La Crosse for several years during which the greatest part of the business consisted of the manufacture of horse, dairy and chicken feeds. The feed mills which are located on the north side have an enormous capacity. During the last year the north side plant has averaged shipments to the extent of three car loads per week while the local trade has almost equalled that amount.

The firm of Thomas and Phalon which has had a steady growth of business for the last twelve years was reorganized two years ago and incorporated with a capital stock of $25,000. About two months ago the business of the firm was enlarged by the addition of the south side flour mill. The mill is equipped with all of the latest machinery which cost over $6,000.

Under the new arrangements all of the grain and feeds are handled at the north side plant while the work of the south side plant is confined strictly to the manufacture of flour. Ten men are employed by the Thomas-Phalon company.

Among the various materials manufactured by this firm is the Lacota flour one of the highest grades of flour on the market. Hundreds of car loads of grain are converted into T. & P. horse, dairy and chicken feed annually. A large amount of grain, hay and straw is also handled by the Thomas-Phalon company.

When you come to the Minnesota state fair this year you will not need to stand in line to buy tickets and you will save time if you have plenty of change in your pockets. The board has decided to install the cash turnstile system at all of the outside entrances and at a large majority of those in the grandstand and livestock pavilion.

It will be impossible to get through the gates without dropping the proper coin into the slot. There will be change booths outside at which coins of the right denominations can be secured, but the man who has a few loose quarters and half dollars when he starts for the fair grounds will make better headway than the one who has to line up for change.

Salvation Army

The late General William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, one of the greatest men whom the Anglo Saxon type has produced, had two weaknesses in his character which exerted primary and vital influence on Army work in the United States. These weaknesses were two, and they caused at least three startling and striking results to Army enterprises here. The weaknesses were late that once aroused died hard if it dies at all, and an inability to let go power after he had felt the joy of exercising it. The results of these weaknesses, as they effect America, are the far lower estimate held of him here than in England because of his bitterness of speech concerning his son; the existence of the Volunteers of America, one of the greatest organizations of its kind in any country; and the killing of an American church army that would, but for the late General Booth's indirect influence, now exist in the Episcopal church.

After the quarrel between General William Booth and his son, General Ballington Booth, the father came to America and upon his arrival gave to reporters of the New York newspapers as bitter words as any man could put into an interview concerning any other man. Not only did he give out the interview, but he spent money and used the power of his name and his Army to secure its publication widely. It related solely to General Ballington Booth, and it was so unflatteringly, so unchristian, so devilish, that it shocked America. Indirectly, it killed the Episcopal church's attempt, then just begun to copy in America the English church army, still existent and still doing a great work. But for that interview it is probable there would now be an American church army.

A few years later General William Booth came to America a second time. There met him in lower New York bay, before he landed from his ship and before the reporters had chance to see him, a company of three well known New York clergy and laymen. This company hoped that, some years having elapsed, General Booth might entertain kinder feelings toward his son, then and now the head of the prosperous Volunteers. However the three men were prepared for emergencies. General Booth greeted them as old friends, which they were, and was most affable until one of them purposely mentioned the subject of Ballington and the father's treatment of him during his visit. Instantly the manner of the head of the Salvation Army changed.

In the words of one of the three, uttered at the time, "the devil remained in the old man broke loose." Ties of kinship counted for nothing. General Booth produced an interview, prepared in advance, and gave it to the spokesman of the company, saying that it was to be handed in duplicate to the reporters the moment the ship landed or they came aboard. The interview was not worse than the one of a few years previous had been because it could not be. But all of the vitriol of the former statement was there. The company of men waited not an instant. Commanding General Booth to silence for a moment, the spokesman told him with words of authority, that that statement should never be given to the newspapers of America, should never be uttered in any form while here. They told General Booth that, considering the ties of kinship, and taking account of the Salvation Army's pretensions, the statement if published would do immeasurable harm to Christ's cause in America, not Army and Volunteer alone, but to all.

All of the arguments were, however, of no avail whatever upon General Booth. Finally the company played its last card. General Booth was told that if the statement was given out by him, and that if he, in his addresses while in America gave voice to them, or if on returning to England he published them, these men would see to it that financial support for the Army in America ceased once and for all. The old man was whipped. He knew the power of his visitors over his financial support. Not graciously, not kindly, not even courteously, was the submission. But the promise was given, a dogged one, and it was kept. The tirade against Ballington Booth, the second one, remains undelivered to this day. A copy of it is said to be in existence in this country, but forever after General Booth was silent. That there was a reconciliation no one knows who knew the inside history of the controversy, and knew General Booth, ever expected.

The other almost fatal defect in the character of this great man, now gone to his reward, was that of holding on. When Christ stopped Saul while the latter was on the road to Damascus, and told Ananias to go into Straight Street and see him, Christ physically disappeared. General Booth, gone, the new head is expected to govern more wisely, to admit others to a share in the exercise of power, and to introduce new and better methods, not only in the Army throughout the world but to permit their introduction in the Army in America. Such intention is foreshadowed in the very first address of General Bramwell Booth. It is believed that the family differences of the Booths will not be formally healed but will be allowed to disappear. There will be no amalgamation of the Volunteers with the Army, but the Army will take on, as it did while General William Booth was a younger man, many of those dashing, unusual, and yet tremendously needed lines of work that used to make it the most talked about religious enterprise in the world.

(1.) Verse 14.—Who was King Herod and how did the fame of Jesus affect him?

(2.) What other examples can you give of the results of an aroused conscience?

(3.) Verse 15.—How do you account for the variety of opinions which the people had concerning Jesus?

(4.) Verse 16.—What are the possibilities of conscience in tormenting bad men?

(5.) If a man's conscience is clear, no matter how startling an event may be, is he ever likely to be afraid? (See Prov. xviii:1.)

Preparing for
The Wedding

There was to be a wedding in eastern Kentucky. Many of the mountaineers would be there. Early in the morning of the nuptial day Bud Highrower was noticed filling an old No. 12 shoe with slugs and nails and plaster of paris.

"Wot you doin', Bud?" drawled Sim Beesley.

"Kain't you see wot I'm doin'?"

"I'm makin' moonshine speerits out'n cheese scrapin's."

Sim chuckled.

"Gettin' good an' ready f'r th' weddin', I reckon."

"I reckon."

"Goin' to throw it at th' bridegroom, maybe?"

"Goin' to throw it at him, maybe, but it ain't goin' to hit him. It's goin' to break th' face of Snipe Tolliver, an' do it accidental, too. I been layn' f'r that Snipe f'r a right smart spell."

And he drove an extra railway spike in the hardening mass.—

Queer Ones
For Doctor

"A doctor," remarked one of the fraternity, "has to be a good guesser as to the meaning of what is said to him. There are a great many things told him that could easily be distorted. There are also so many funny things coming his way that the average physician, if he kept a notebook and could find the time to jot these sayings down, would be welcomed as a great humorist."

"I do not think very many have run up against the message that came to me over the telephone the other evening. There was an excited young woman at the other end of the line, who gave me her name and address. 'And I want you to rush over here as soon as you can,' she said, 'my husband's suffering from something I think is pantomime poisoning!'"—New York Tribune.

It Surely Was Worth a Drink

The shabby man with the blushing nose approached the stranger, who was sipping a cocktail.

"Friend," said the shabby man, "if I can convince you that you have eleven fingers would you consider me worthy of a drink at your expense?"

"I certainly would," replied the stranger.

"Now start the count," said the shabby man. "On your right hand there are one, two, three, four, five; now on the left hand—six, seven, eight, nine, ten."

"You lose," announced the stranger.

"Nay, nay," said the shabby man. "We'll count back. See—ten, nine, eight, seven, six—and fove on your other hand are eleven."

He got the drink.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

No Arithmetical
Progression

No one could be more temperate than Peter A. B. Widener, the Philadelphia capitalist and philanthropist, yet Mr. Widener has never supported prohibition.

An ardent prohibitionist, dining with Mr. Widener at Lynnewood hall one evening tried in vain to win his host over to the prohibition cause.

"You'll at least admit," said the prohibitionist, "that the more saloons there are the more our people will want to drink?"

"No," he said, "I won't even admit that. In this house of mine there are some eighty or ninety bedrooms, yet I never feel any sleeper here than elsewhere."

(20.) When a man is under the influence of wine and a licentious dance what would you say as to the goodness of his resolutions?

(21.) What is the influence today of drink and dancing?

Domestic Hints

(From The Scotch-American)

Only one man in two hundred is over six feet in height.

Cayenne pepper is excellent as a means of ridding a cupboard of mice. The floor should be gone over carefully, and each hole stopped up with a piece of rag dipped in water, and then in cayenne pepper.

More water, more sleep, a careful diet and less worry doubtless constitute about as good a platform for attaining health and long life as any that may be put together.

For thickening soups or gravy work half an ounce of butter carefully into rather more than that quantity of flour. Cook for three minutes.

When valuable vases are used for table decorations they should first of all be nearly filled with sand. This makes them stand firm, and there is less chance of their being knocked over and broken.

To keep a teapot always ready for use wash and dry thoroughly, then put one teaspoonful of tea in and close the lid, and you will find it perfectly sweet without the necessary scalding out when wanted.

After exposure to cold weather there is no better restorative than a cup of hot soup. It is well to remember that thick soup is more nourishing than clear soup, but that clear soup or diluted meat extract is the better stimulant.

WINS BY ONE POINT

SEA GIRT, N. J., Aug. 31.—The match for the company team championship of the United States, shot under the auspices of the National Rifle association here today was won by Company K, First district of Columbia, which scored 354, one point more than Company I, Tenth Pennsylvania. The other scores were: Company D, Second Alabama, 349; Company C, Fourth New Jersey, 331; Company E, First district of Columbia, 326; Company K, Second district of Columbia, 313. The Wimbledon cup match at one thousand yards, the revolver championship, the Spencer at twelve hundred yards and the all-comers squadded revolver and pistol matches comprised the afternoon card. The Meany match at 500 yards was won by George W. Chesley of Connecticut, who scored the possible fifty. Captain Guy Emerson, Ohio, was second with 49.

Chicago Grain Review
CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—Wheat was weak from the start today. Liverpool cables told of lower prices abroad and weather conditions both in Europe and this country were improving. Northwestern receipts were heavy and cash wheat in all directions was slow of sale and weak.

The corn market was heavy, particularly the September delivery. Traders were expecting large runs of corn here Tuesday, but the country, while selling old corn, is complaining bitterly of a lack of cars. Oats displayed a weak tone throughout today's session.

The provision trade was fairly active with prices holding closely to yesterday's closing level.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—Schulte's twelfth home run, touched off in the seventh inning, trimmed the Cardinals, 5 to 4, yesterday and as the Dodgers waived the Giants the Cubs now are only four games behind the top notchers. Larry Cheney and his vapor float abated the Cardinals after a struggle. Cheney had one bad session—the fourth—and Steele, who started for the visitors, encountered a worse one in the last of the same round. Steele was lifted at the end of the inning, and Geyer, who succeeded him, held the Cubs safe except for Schulte's fatal homer. St. Louis made one in the ninth and might have capsize the score if Cheney had wobbled. Larry, however, whiffed two dangerous guests when hits meant tallies. The score: R H E

CLEVELAND, Aug. 31.—The Naps took yesterday's game from the White Sox by the comfortable count of 7 to 2. Douglas, a recruit from Des Moines, pitched for the Sox and though he exhibited great speed and a deceptive curve he was too wild to hold his game down. The score: R H E

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

STANDING OF THE CLUBS

The Giants' wayside tumble caused material shrinkage in their pennant chances, as the Cubs are today only four games distant and the conflict may become exciting any day. The Yankees fanned alive the pennant hope spark in the Senators' camp by dropping the second straight. Bobby Groom's Jinx worked well and Speed King Johnson is slated to take the third consecutive game today.

The Cubs gained a full game on the Giants by drubbing the Cardinals for the third straight. Schulte's garden circular was a big factor in compounding the decision.

The Red Sox battled another victory from the Athletics. The Athletics got away early with a four run lead, but could not score after the third round.

Boston and Phillies went ten innings toe and nail without either gaining advantage. Donnelly out-pitched Minneran, Moore and Alexander, his opponents, and finally won his game.

The Pirates and Reds went through a thrilling twelve round performance. Simons' single put over the winning tally for Pittsburg. The Naps took an early lead against the White Sox and won the game practically without exertion. Douglas and Benz started for the Sox but Blanding bettered the two. Hamilton pitched himself into baseball's hall of fame against the Tigers by letting them down with a no-hit game. Ty Cobb drew a pass and celebrated his seventh birthday in big league ball bringing in the only run for his team.

AUTO KILLS OLD MAN

FRED YOPE, 60, STRUCK BY MACHINE WHICH GOES INTO DITCH IN TRYING TO AVOID HIM

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 31.—An inquest into the death of Fred Yope, sixty years of age, of Stillwater, Minn., killed last night by an automobile driven by James Carr of Minneapolis, will be held tomorrow morning. Young Carr, with Carl Stevens, Frederick and Loren Wallace, the latter two also of Minneapolis, are being held at Stillwater, pending the inquest.

Carr attempted to turn out in time to avoid striking Yope, but was unsuccessful, and the machine, with its four youthful occupants, all under age, plunged over a twenty foot embankment.

WHO ROBBED WALDO

UNFRIENDLY DIP CUTS HOLE IN POLICE COMMISSIONER'S TROUSERS AND SECURES HIS WALLET

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The question of who got Police Commissioner Waldo's wallet divided interest with the developments in the police graft situation today. Despite denials, it was learned that a few nights ago a none too clubby "dip" slashed the hip pocket of the chubby head of the police, ruining a perfectly good pair of trousers and getting a wallet containing considerable cash and valuable papers. And every effort of the detective bureau to locate the thief failed.

There was much interest today in the trial of Police Captain Cornelius G. Hayes, degraded from the rank of inspector, because he asserted Waldo had directed him not to raid disorderly houses without specific orders.

If the agreement has been rejected, the entire question will go to arbitration.

SEA GIRT, N. J., Aug. 31.—Governor Wilson admitted today that he is not likely to soon forget the "blacksmith of Williams Grove" and he could be seen occasionally counting the fingers of his right hand as though to reassure himself that they were all there. But he was happy. His trip through Pennsylvania was the most satisfactory in his life and he was enthusiastic every time he talked about it. The blacksmith, who almost squeezed the hand off when he shook the candidate's right fist while assuring him that he was going "to cast his first democratic vote this fall," typified, in the candidate's opinion as expressed today, the "awakening" of the people of the country.

"My hand is all right now," grinned the governor when he greeted the newspaper men at noon, "but for a while I could not feel anything at all. The democratic candidate left here at 1 o'clock in an auto for a trip to the Monmouth county fair, where he expected to make a brief address to his home state farmers and their friends.
